DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 2. Claims 67-76 and 86-88 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Bouge et al. (US Patent 4,315,839).

Applicant claims a catalyst having improved attrition resistance, said catalyst comprising a calcined γ -alumina support and said catalyst having been produced by a method comprising the step, after calcinations of but before adding catalytic materials to the support, of treating said support with an acidic aqueous solution having an acidity level effective for increasing the attrition resistance of said catalyst.

Bouge et al. discloses a spheroidal alumina particulates having bifold porosity and a process for their production. The particulates taught by Bouge et al. have a remarkable resistance to attrition and a very strong resistance to attrition, on the order of 100%, may be obtained (col. 11, lines 4-7). The particulates are comprised of calcined gamma alumina particulates that are useful as catalysts or catalyst supports (see abstract). The gamma alumina support materials are treated with water and nitric acid (col. 7, lines 37-41). The pH of the acidic solution is less than 7.5, preferably between 3 and 7 (col. 5, lines 24-26). The gamma alumina support is produced from boehmite (see abstract).

The Patent Office bears a lesser burden of proof in making out a case of prima facie obviousness for product-by-process claims. Once a rationale tending to show that the claimed product appears to be the same or similar to that of the prior art, although produced by a different process, the burden shifts to applicant to come forward with evidence establishing an unobvious difference between the claimed product and the prior art product. In re Marosi, 710 F.2d 798, 802, 218 USPQ 289, 292 (Fed. Cir. 1983).

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
